Onyx Data Solutions Launches Website

CHEYENNE, WY (January 13, 2016) - Onyx Data Solutions, an information technology consulting company, announced today the official launch of its website. Onyx's website provides information about Onyx and the information technology services offering, how to connect with the team, Onyx news and events, and career opportunities. The website can be found at www.onyxds.com.

"Our goal at Onyx is to bridge the gap between business and technology," said Onyx CEO, Dan Blaney. "We have designed the website with this goal in mind, providing a clean, fresh site with a modern design that is easy to navigate." Onyx Data Solutions was founded by Dan Blaney in 2011. Mr. Blaney engaged in several consulting projects on his own, then grew the organization to include consulting and business development teams in 2015.

Onyx Data Solutions offers tailored IT consulting services to mid-sized insurance carriers, third party administrators, and human resource teams within large employers. With each client engagement, Onyx's mission is to solve its client's technology challenges so they can focus on their core business. Services provided include program building, strategic planning, managed IT services, implementation and solution delivery, security consulting, and data management. "The Onyx team has decades of experience within the employee benefits industry, and is fluent with both business and technology terminology," Blaney said.

Onyx Data Solutions invites people to visit and explore the website. The website also includes integrated social media icons to Onyx's social media channels, Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and Google+.

About Onyx Data Solutions:
