

DATA MANAGEMENT

Mission-critical data is generated from your organization each day. To keep operations running efficiently, it's essential that this data is managed effectively. When your data resides with different vendors, it can be hard to track and manage, and keeping this data secure, manageable, and maintaining data integrity is an essential part of internal business processes, business growth, and performance.

Onyx Data Solutions has decades of experience working with insurance carriers and human resource teams in managing employee benefit data. We bring the expertise needed to manage your data operations, giving you confidence in your business processes.

DATA CONVERSION

When you have an organization to run, new business to onboard, systems to merge or data to migrate, managing all of the operational data can quickly turn into a big challenge. This is especially true with employee benefit data, when there is people behind all of your information.

Onyx's Data Conversion Services provide a cost effective way to convert your data from one format or system to another. Using deep data expertise and the best practices in data security, Onyx can manage and accelerate your data conversion process so you can focus your resources on other business needs and gain more operational efficiency.

DATA WAREHOUSING

Keeping a grasp on all of your organization's data can be a challenge when new data is created every day from several different vendors.

Onyx's Data Warehousing Services store all of your data in a central location, providing you with an accessible, secure and organized method for data storage.
